Subject	Fees for Food Service Workers' Training			Page	1 of 1

According to a legal opinion from this department's Office of General Counsel, local boards of health have the authority under 64 CSR 51, Fees for Services Rule, to institute a fee for food service workers' training.

While the Fees for Services Rule does not have a specified list of services for which fees may be charged, it allows for the addition of local board of health fees by an administrative process outlined in §64-51-9. The fee should be identified as a fee for the service of providing the food service workers' training, not as a fee for a permit.
